Appearance

Xena Snowscale is a white-furred Jakkai woman sporting patches of white scales across her body, as well as a small set of pale horns that are mostly hidden by her hair atop her head. She stands at an impressively average 100cm/3'3" tall, a rather common height for Jakkai. Her eyes are the same grey as the darker markings on her body. The most notable of those markings are the three cheek strips she has on either side of her face, which she dyes a pale lavender to break up her otherwise monotone color scheme. When she is ready for battle, she wears a set of heavy mithril armor with a buckler strapped to her arm.

She did not always look like this, as her adventures with the rest of Team Thoril she underwent a variety of magical changes.
